(Montreal, Canada – November 23, 2026) DART Aerospace is pleased to announce the launch of its new external cargo Heli-Utility-Basket™, specifically designed for the Airbus H135 aircraft. The new product has received Transport Canada Civil Aviation (TCCA) Supplemental Type Certificate (STC) SH26-34, further expanding DART's portfolio of certified external cargo solutions.

DART is excited to further support the Airbus H135 platform by introducing a new Heli-Utility-Basket™ that allows operators to expand their mission capabilities on this key platform. With a 300 lb capacity, left- and right-hand options, and compatible pilot and passenger steps, the system provides a versatile solution for carrying mission equipment and cargo," said Michael Lee, DART Business Unit Manager. "Production is underway, with first deliveries scheduled for December.

The Airbus H135 Heli-Utility-Basket™ features quick and easy installation, allowing operators to externally carry skis, cargo hooks, tools and equipment, and a variety of other items safely. Developed for the utility and VIP market, this cargo basket is constructed of corrosion-resistant stainless steel, coated with a high-gloss, scratch-resistant white finish. Safety is enhanced with a simple self-locking handle that assures lid closure and secures cargo during flight. A gas spring is utilized to ease lid opening and closing.

With the launch of the Airbus H135 Heli-Utility-Basket™ and the achievement of TCCA STC SH26-34, DART continues to deliver innovative solutions that meet the evolving needs of helicopter operators worldwide. As with most DART products, DART will support additional agency validations based on customer needs.
