Launch of “The Hangar Z Podcast.”

A public safety aviation podcast.

In August 2020, Jon Gray a police helicopter pilot in Southern California created a podcast called “The Hangar Z Podcast.” The purpose behind the podcast is to promote and explore the personnel and equipment behind the missions of public safety aviation. The interviews are comprised of the people filling aviation roles in the fire service, EMS, and law enforcement.

The Hangar Z Podcast seeks to honor the past, promote the present and encourage the future of public safety aviation.

In the first two months of broadcasting three episodes have been produced. The response has been fantastic as the show is already in the top 25% of podcasts in terms of downloads within the Buzzsprout podcast network.

The Hangar Z Podcast is looking to grow in listenership to further promote the public safety aviation industry. You can listen to The Hangar Z Podcast on Apple Podcasts, Spotify and most other podcast broadcasting forums. You can also follow us on Instagram @HangarZpodcast.

The Hangar Z Podcast is also looking for people from within the public safety aviation community to be apart of the podcast. Those interested in being interviewed / contributing to the podcast or have a suggested guest, please send an email to Hangarzpodcast@gmail.com.
