

Aerometals names Director of Sales and Marketing

Erik Blanck

August 18, 2021 - Sacramento, CA

Precision aerospace manufacturing and industry innovator Aerometals has announced the appointment of Erik Blanck as Director of Sales and Marketing for the northern California based company. Mr. Blanck, a U.S. Navy veteran and industry insider for over 25 years, brings with him an extensive marketing, sales, and maintenance, repair and overhaul (MRO) background with military and commercial sectors around the world. Prior to joining Aerometals, Blanck most recently managed a multi-million-dollar North American MRO business focusing on customer specific turn-key maintenance solutions for Heli-One.

Aerometals company CEO, Ms. Lorie Symon, commented, "We're excited to have Erik on board and we look forward to utilizing his industry experience and knowledge to compliment our team of seasoned executives."

Aerometals is expanding their design, manufacturing and distribution of critical aerospace components and PMA parts as well as turbine engine inlet barrier filtration systems for multiple model type civil and military and airframes.

Additional information regarding Aerometals and their capabilities can be found at www.aerometals.aero or by calling +1.916.939.6888.